

April 7, 2008

ANCHIN FORMS STRATEGIC ALLIANCE WITH RFR INTERNATIONAL

New Partnership ABA/RFR Offers Enhanced Business-Building Solutions and Delivers "Best Practices" To CEO Clients

NEW YORK, NY -- Accounting and advisory giant Anchin, Block & Anchin, LLP has formed a strategic alliance with RFR International, expanding the scope and depth of business advisory services delivered to its client base. Jeremiah Schnee, founder of RFR and a well-known and well-respected business advisor, will serve as President of ABA/RFR Business Advisory Services.

"Anchin is excited to partner with an industry innovator with the track record of Jeremiah Schnee as we continue our tireless efforts to deliver extraordinary benefits to our clients," said Marc Newman, Associate Managing Partner of Anchin. "His effectiveness in both defining and implementing solutions that provide measurable results to business owners is highly complementary to our core philosophy and is great news for our growth-minded clients."

ABA/RFR provides services to a client base across a broad industry spectrum that include strategic planning, new customer acquisition, brand, marketing, and sales planning, operational improvement plans, human resources and organizational assessments, talent acquisition, and merger and acquisition. With annual sales ranging from $10 million to more than $1 billion, ABA/RFR clients include some of the largest and best known privately held companies in the New York metro area. ABA/RFR client service is enhanced by the full-range of accounting and advisory services delivered by Anchin.

Schnee, who has been recognized as one of most respected business consultants in the tri-state area, has nearly 20 years of experience in delivering innovative business advisory services to a wide variety of businesses. Clients have included many leading middle-market CEOs and business owners as well as multinationals, including Allstate, Pfizer, Colgate Palmolive and Northrop Grumman. Schnee has been successful in identifying and creating opportunities to drive their business to the next level, as well as enhancing operational excellence while maximizing profitability. He is frequently quoted in print and on air and is a sought-after speaker by business groups, civic organizations, and universities.

With a staff of 400, Anchin serves privately-held businesses and high net worth individuals with a wide range of traditional and non-traditional advisory services, including financial statement preparation; tax planning and compliance services; economic development and tax incentives; management and succession advisory services; litigation support, forensic accounting and valuation services; merger and acquisition services; and wealth management.