

Anchin Adds to Leadership with New Executive Committee Appointment

October 3, 2024

Anchin is pleased to welcome Chris Noble to its Executive Committee, effective October 1, 2024. This addition underscores Anchin's unwavering commitment to supporting its clients. Chris, who has grown within the firm during his twenty-plus years at Anchin, will support the firm's commitment to quality and growth. With a steadfast focus on excellence, Chris embodies the values of Anchin, ensuring that clients receive the highest standard of support and care.

"The addition of Chris to the executive committee will assist the Firm in sustaining its commitment to providing exceptional client service while fostering a positive employee experience and firmwide culture," said Russell B. Shinsky, Managing Partner at Anchin. "His contributions will continue to enhance our operations, benefiting our clients, partners, and staff. We are eager to see what the future holds for Chris and Anchin."

Chris Noble, CPA, CGMA, is an Accounting and Advisory Partner at Anchin. He is the leader of the Technology and Professional Services Group providing accounting, business, and tax strategies to entrepreneurial, venture capital, and private equity-backed businesses ranging from start-ups to growing and established companies.

Recognized as a top industry leader, Chris has contributed articles to various industry outlets, such as CFO Outlook, Long Island Business News, and Crain's New York. He also plays a vital role on Anchin's CARE Committee, which coordinates the firm's charitable and recreational initiatives.