

Anchin Continues Growth by Welcoming Partner Matthew Rosenblatt to its Professional Services and Technology Groups

August 8, 2023

Anchin is pleased to announce that Matthew Rosenblatt has joined as an Audit Partner in the Firm's Professional Services and Technology Groups.

Matthew Rosenblatt, CPA, has deep experience providing attest and advisory services, including GAAP and other technical expertise. Matthew has served clients in the technology, professional services, entertainment and media and non-profit industries. At Anchin, he will play a significant role advising clients in these areas as a key member within the firm's growing Technology and Professional Services Groups.

"I am excited to welcome Matthew to the team. He has experience in industries in which we are serving an increasing array of clients. Matthew is part of a growing roster of recent additions who are attracted to the firm due to Anchin's culture and independence," says Chris Noble, Partner and Leader of the Technology Group and Professional Services Group which includes Law Firms, Public Relations, Advertising & Media, IT Service companies and other professional service businesses.

“It is great to see how many professionals have recently joined our team at Anchin,” adds Russell B. Shinsky, Managing Partner “Our core values and focus on providing exceptional client service in a Best Places to Work environment continue to draw talent to our firm. I think that is the attraction – the knowledge that they will be part of a robust and flourishing culture that is commencing its second 100 years in business.”

Anchin is consistently named a Best Place to Work in New York City, New York State, and nationally by Crain’s NY Business and Accounting Today, among other respected publications.

In addition to the tremendous growth that Anchin achieved in 2022 – which included the opening of an office in Boca Raton, Florida; the addition of seven Partners and Principals, and the promotion of a record group to Directors and Senior Managers – the firm has already brought on board four new professionals at the Partner level in 2023.
