

Anchin Ranked in Top 8 on Crain's New York Business's 2020 Best Places to Work in New York City

December 14, 2020

Anchin, Block & Anchin LLP ("Anchin") announced that it has again been included among the winners of Crain's New York Business's annual Best Places to Work in New York City rankings. Anchin has been awarded the distinction for 11 years, and this year achieved its best ranking yet, 8th out of the 46 winning companies in the large employer category (100 or more NYC employees). This is the highest ranking of any accounting firm.

In partnership with the Best Companies Group, Crain's surveyed more than 20,000 employees across all five New York City boroughs on the types of work atmospheres, leadership styles, opportunities for mentorship and professional growth, traditional benefits and atypical "work perks" that make a company a great place to work. Winners were determined by the results of a weighted survey of employees and employers, and this year's honorees are world-class organizations that are at the forefront of their respective fields.

Anchin's Managing Partner, Russell B. Shinsky, said, "Despite the challenges of the pandemic, every Anchin employee has stepped up - to deliver the high level of client service we are known for, while preserving our culture of community during this time when many have felt isolated. Given the extraordinary challenges that 2020 has presented, I am particularly proud of our firm for receiving this recognition this year."

Read original article on Anchin Ranked in Top 8 on Crain's New York Business's 2020 Best Places to Work in New York City