

Anchin Welcomes Brian Glavotsky as Partner and the Latest Addition to Our Growing Private Client Group

June 15, 2023

Anchin has announced that Brian Glavotsky, CPA, MST has joined the firm as a Partner in its Private Client Group. Brian specializes in providing tax advisory to high-net-worth individuals and families. He performs detailed research and analysis on complex tax issues, advising high-net-worth individuals as well as partnerships on the impacts of new tax law changes. Brian also specializes in fiduciary and gift tax returns and has extensive experience in international tax matters.

“Brian is a valued tax advisor and leader in the private client space,” says Jared Feldman, Partner and Leader of the Firm’s Private Client Group. “As we continue to see meaningful growth in our business, we are pleased that someone with his depth of experience is joining our team and I am excited to see the impact he will make both within the firm, and in being part of our mission to provide the highest-quality advice and strategies to our high-net-worth clients.”

Anchin’s Private Client Group offers a complete range of private client advisory services including family office and high-net-worth tax services that assist families in making decisions with full confidence that align with their big-picture objectives. Our team supports and collaborates with other key advisors to craft the optimal strategies for tax planning and compliance, including how best to manage unique assets such as art, collectibles, and cryptocurrency, as well as family office structuring, creative planning for succession and wealth transfer, guidance on privately-owned businesses, matrimonial and litigation & valuation support needs.