

Anchin Welcomes New Partner and Leader of its Not-For-Profit and Healthcare Practice

August 19, 2024

Anchin is pleased to announce that Brian Sackstein has joined as a Partner in the firm's Services Group and as the Leader of Anchin's Not-For-Profit (NFP) and Healthcare Practice.

With more than 30 years of experience servicing healthcare and not-for-profit organizations of all sizes, Brian brings extensive industry experience to Anchin. His specialization in providing audit, accounting, and management advisory services spans the entire sector, including social service organizations, permanency and adoption services, residential group care, drug treatment programs, community & migrant programs, and federally qualified health centers. Brian works closely with boards of directors, CEOs, CFOs and staff within these organizations to help them effectively manage their businesses, achieve their goals, and actualize their missions.

“We are excited to welcome Brian Sackstein to our team. His deep experience with nonprofit organizations and dedication to supporting their missions align perfectly with the strengths of our established team and the needs of our clients. Brian’s expertise will be a tremendous asset as we enhance our support for clients in the healthcare and not-for-profit sectors,” says Chris Noble, Partner and Leader of the Services Group.

“Brian joins Anchin during a period of significant growth and expansion for the firm. As the accounting industry continues to undergo a notable shift, we see a tremendous opportunity to deliver value to our clients and the market as an independent firm,” remarked Russell B. Shinsky, Managing Partner at Anchin. “Adding Brian to the team enhances our not-for-profit and healthcare industry knowledge, enabling us to better serve our existing clients and pursue opportunities to grow our overall client base within these sectors. We’re excited about the future and having Brian join our team to help us support our clients and achieve their and the firm’s objectives”.