

INTERNATIONAL TAX

Overview

As the business and investment climates become more globalized and cross-border transactions become an essential part of doing business, companies and individuals will increasingly find themselves needing tax specialists and accountants who have a combination of expertise in both domestic and global markets. Whether you are a U.S. company conducting business overseas, a foreign company with operations in the U.S., or an individual with global interests, Anchin can help you design an efficient tax structure, guide you through increasingly difficult reporting requirements, help you attain your global objectives, and maximize the growth of your business.

Anchin's international tax specialists offer proactive advice and support through a team of U.S.-based international tax experts and a global network of advisors. Our tax service teams provide a wide range of opportunities for tax efficiencies on both inbound and outbound investments for individuals and companies. We also offer inpatriate and expatriate services to executives whose careers take them around the world.

The international tax services team can also provide clients with tax planning services for income, gift and estate tax issues regarding international trusts and planning for U.S. beneficiaries as well as ongoing planning and compliance advice to maximize the benefits of the structure.

Global compliance, reporting, and planning are more important than ever. Anchin can help to ensure that you meet your legal obligations while you focus on the business of creating value and remaining competitive. Whatever your cross-border goals are, Anchin can help find a solution that integrates with your strategy and meets your objectives.
